The Hospitality Industry

The World is Your Playground... GO FOR IT!

With the Indian economy rising the above all expectations, the service sector is poised to become the key money spinner in the future. The process has already started and its effect is evident in the growth of the banking and financial sector, the IT sector and above all in the hospitality and tourism sector. Statistically, the stage is set when a new luxury hotel is being built in every 45 days, somewhere in the country. This figure does not include the large number of hotels that are planned and built for the future international events. Conservative estimate indicates that within four years from now, almost 4 to 5 Lakh high quality skilled hospitality manpower is required in this industry alone, to run these hotels. With significant global growth opportunities, international chains like Marriott International, Intercontinental, Hilton, Four Seasons, and other heavyweights have lined up to expand here in a big way. The career prospects in the hospitality industry are high paced, diverse and promise highly progressive growth in a wide range of areas. Here at IIHM the curriculum is designed on the lines of international education and is conducted by highly qualified professionals both from India and abroad and is supported by intensive practical sessions real time, at the institute owned luxury hotels. In addition to the hotel industry, IIHM students are the first choice of the employers in the other spearheading service sectors like the IT sectors, Banking & Financial sectors, Industrial & Institutional Catering & Lodging sectors, the BPO & KPO sectors, the ever exploding international retail sectors and many more.

A few of the lucrative positions that this career offers are - Hotel/Resort Manager, Food & Beverage Manager, Banquet & Conferencing Manager, Outlet Manager, Training and Learning & Development Manager, Rooms Division Manager, Executive Housekeeper, Executive Chef, F&B Controller, Team Leaders, Retail Outlet Manager and others.

In just about 3 years and with a degree from IIHM, students launch themselves in this exciting industry where sky is the only limit and the workplace is a country of their own choice - India, Europe. Australia, New Zealand, Middle East, USA, Canada and almost everywhere else.

12th IIHM INTERNATIONAL YOUNG CHEF OLYMPIAD INDIA.2026

THE WORLD'S GREATEST YOUTH CULINARY COMPETITION JUDGED BY THE WORLDS TOUGHEST CULINARY JURY

A INTERNATIONAL INSTITUTE OF HOTEL MANAGEMENT WORLD EVENT

ALBANIA IS THE IIHM YOUNG CHEF OLYMPIAD CHAMPION

ENGLAND & SRI-LANKA WIN SILVER AND BRONZE IN THE 12TH IIHM INTERNATIONAL YOUNG CHEF OLYMPIAD; BUT THE LANGUAGE OF FOOD, AND UNITY ON A PLATE TRIUMPHED

Golden Boy: YCO winner Chef Enri Cuedari with the Golden Trophy presented by IIHM Chairman Dr Suborno Bose, iconic Chef, Padma Shri Sanjeev Kapoor & Prof.David Foskett (MBE), Chairman, Grand Jury YCO

They made 4 chicken main entree dishes and 4 portions of dessert (strudel) from 1 chicken and a basket of ingredients provided to them

England & Sri-Lanka win silver and bronze in the 12th IIHM International Young Chef Olympiad; But the language of food, and unity on a plate triumphed

After six days of competition, cultural exchange, and evaluation across multiple Indian cities, the 12th IIHM International Young Chef Olympiad (YCO) 2026 concluded in Kolkata with a new world champion, Albania, the country of origin of one of Kolkata's most loved and adored people, Mother Teresa. Enri Cuedari, the young chef from Instituti Kulinari Neranxi, lifted the Golden Trophy and was crowned with the golden toque in a competition that witnessed the largest congregation of young chefs in the world

England, the winner of YCO 2025, emerged second with Dominic Thomas Grundy of Westminster - Capital City College receiving the silver trophy. The second runner up was the island nation of Sri Lanka lifting the bronze trophy, proudly represented by Vidanagamage Rumira Reshan Piyasiri of the Colombo Academy of Hospitality Management, completing a podium that reflected the high standards and global diversity of the competition.

India, represented by IIHM Kolkata's Kotamsetti Satya Teja, performed brilliantly in Round 1 of the competition catapulting him to to the coveted grand final of the top ten countries.

The Olympiad brought together student chefs from 40 countries, making it the largest competition of its kind for young culinary professionals. Conceived in India and now recognised internationally, YCO has grown into a multi-city platform that combines competitive cooking with structured learning and cultural exchange. The Top 10 finalists represented a wide geographical spread, were selected after progressing through multiple rounds designed to test not only culinary technique, but also time management, decision-making, teamwork, and composure under pressure, earning their places through skill, integrity, and an unmistakable respect for both tradition and innovation.

When Chef Sanjeev Kapoor teaches the world about Indian millets, he does it from the IIHM Global Campus...

40+ countries.
One global classroom.
Live to the world.

This is not just education.
This is where global culinary futures are shaped
Learn where the world listens.

IIHM student Kotamsetti Satya Teja took India to the top 10 of YCO 26

The largest congregation of young chefs in the world since 2015, had India's Kotamsetti Satya Teja, a student of IIHM Kolkata, who showcased his craft in his home kitchen, qualified and competed in the coveted final round where the top ten countries after the first rounds competed. At the IIHM, Teja transformed passion into purpose, mastering technique while honouring tradition. Today, he carries India's culinary soul to the global stage as a cultural ambassador of food.

Teja's early exposure to regional coastal cuisine from Visakhapatnam, Andhra Pradesh shaped his deep respect for food as a cultural force. Though trained in science to follow a conventional path, he chose the harder road—listening to his heart and stepping into the kitchen. Convincing family, overcoming doubt, and leaving certainty behind demanded grit and self-belief.

Asked about the reasons for his success, he said "It's all about discipline, day in and day out, when no one's watching"

His mentor Chef Sudipta Mazumder from IIHM, attributed this reason to his success "The best part about him is that he listens very carefully and executed plans"

THE YCO VISIONARIES SPEAK

I wish to thank all the young chefs of the world, they are the culinary ambassadors of the world - they did everything - we did nothing, but we managed to give them a taste of Indian cuisine culminating in Padma Shri Chef Sanjeev Kapoor masterclass on millets, sharing knowledge is the spirit of YCO

DR. SUBORNO BOSE
Chairman, IIHM YCO Chairman,
IIHM Worldwide CEO, IHC, UK

YCO is not just a competition, it is a gathering of friends and like-minded individuals who understand culinary art and bring the world together through shared values in this much-travelled world.

PROF. DAVID FOSKETT OBE MBE
Chairman, IHC, UK
Chairman of the Grand Jury,
IIHM Young Chef Olympiad

Padma Shri Chef Sanjeev Kapoor

"I'm glad that a global competition started in Kolkata where the sun rises early. As Chefs, let's learn to embrace imperfections and make the world a better place.
I hope India will share it's culinary knowledge to the World through IIHM"

Paul Jervis

"The central theme is collaboration, especially in the Dr Bose Challenge, where chefs from different countries work together. This kind of teamwork is excellent and truly unique to the Young Chef Olympiad."

John Wood

"The IIHM YCO is the only competition that can get 40+ countries year after year to India. Each year the competition gets more innnovative. This year merged culinary heritage with AI. YCO is the home of High Tech Higher Touch."

Steve Munkley

"IIHM has created an exceptional global platform where young chefs from diverse cultures and countries come together in a professionally designed kitchen environment. It has become the most prestigious culinary event for young chefs in the World."

LIVING THE DREAM PRESERVING CULINARY HERITAGE IN THE AI AGE

The Young Chef Olympiad 2026 is redefining global culinary exchange by blending tradition with technology under its theme, "Preserving the World's Global Culinary Heritage through AI." Announced by Dr Suborno Bose, Chairman; IIHM & Indismart Group, the theme marks a new chapter where technology meets leadership, ethics, and global unity.

India Post released the Special Edition Of The YCO Postage Stamp and the first day cover to honour the IIHM International Young Chef Award. The stamp was officially released on Feb 6th at closing ceremony of YCO 2026
